GREETINGS

We welcome you to our Third Annual Ball and extend our thanks to the general public for their liberal contributions, making this, our Annual Ball, a grand success. The proceeds made on the Ball make a very important addition to our funds and are used solely for relief of our members in sickness and distress. We realize that we have friends, tried and true, who have proven their friendship in a substantial manner.

"May good luck follow you in your business and may you enjoy good health and happiness" is the earnest wish of the

Your Police Department

The duties which the Police Department are called upon to perform are of vital importance to the Town in its security, peace and prosperity. Dishonesty, carelessness or inefficiency in the discharge of those duties are followed by such grave consequences as to lay upon everyone connected with the Department the most solemn obligations to devote all his energies to the proper protection of the Town. Everyone in accepting a position in the department, accepts voluntarily these obligations.

To the Police are committed the enforcement of the law, the maintenance of order, and the preservation of the public peace. The protection of life and the security of property largely depend upon the zeal and fidelity with which they discharge their duties. It is essential, therefore, that they possess discretion, integrity, activity, fearlessness, and decision.

Night and day, fair weather and foul, when his tour of duty commences, the Policeman must go on his post and be prepared to meet all kinds of danger. He has to encounter the hidden and stealthy, and desperate foe, who is committing, or just emerging from, the commission of crime, through which, by his arrest, his life or liberty is forfeited. This causes him to resist apprehension, even to taking the life of the officer of the law. Surely tragic incidents, wherein Policemen have lost their lives, been wounded or disabled, need not be cited to convince you of this fact, or to show that the Policeman's duties are arduous, responsible, and dangerous.

Each member of the force shall be deemed to be always on duty, subject to such relief therefrom as shall be allowed by the proper authority; and the same responsibility as to the suppression of disturbances and the arrest of offenders, rests upon them when not in uniform as when in uniform on route duty.

The first purpose of an efficient police is to prevent crime; the second is to detect and apprehend offenders if crime is committed. To these ends all the efforts of the police must be directed. The protection of life and property, the preservation of public tranquility and the absence of crime, will alone prove whether or not those efforts have been successful and the objects for which the police were appointed have been attained.
